

Integrating Dental and Medical Plans for Better Overall Health

Dental health can affect overall health, especially for people with chronic medical conditions. Through Florida Blue’s Oral Health for Overall HealthSM program, our dental and medical plans work together to help your employees live healthier.

Employees diagnosed with eligible medical conditions (see chart below) are automatically enrolled in the program and receive Evidence-based Dental BenefitsSM that can help improve overall health. We also reach out to members to educate them about the program’s benefits and the importance of oral health.

Better health for employees—lower costs for everyone

- Valuable benefits: program benefits add up to more than $1,000 in dental services
- No additional cost: benefits are covered 100% (in-network), with no out-of-pocket expenses, and the services don’t count toward the annual maximum
- Improved health outcomes: preventive dental services have been shown to improve health outcomes for people with certain chronic medical conditions
- Lower medical- and dental-related costs: improved dental and overall health can potentially lower these expenditures for you and your employees

Employees who opt for dental only or who are pregnant can easily enroll online.
